In my experience, I've worked with leaders who are strong and I've worked with leaders who are still learning. I recognize that I work best under a supervisor that is fair, honest, and self-demonstrating. I believe a team thrives in an environment where mistakes can occur and yet the project hasn't derailed. Resiliency and empathy set the foundation for an efficient and comfortable work environment. Overall, I trust myself to work hard, ask for help, and listen to others.
